Core Commitments: Educating Students for Personal and Social Responsibility

Call to Action Pledge Form

As president, I pledge to provide leadership to reestablish personal and social responsibility as a central educational goal within my own institution and as an important outcome of a contemporary liberal education. I will also seek to involve other American colleges and universities in this national effort to deepen students' sense of integrity, ethical obligations to self and to others, and responsibilities as citizens in a diverse democracy and interdependent world.

As an AAC&U member, I will keep the Association informed about my institution's progress so that our accomplishments can be more visible and influential.
