

ENCLOSURE 1: CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE GOAL STANDARD

WHAT GRADUATES CAN DO
DEMONSTRATE ABILITY TO:	Analyze contemporary and historical events from different cultural perspectives.	Apply understanding of culture wherever stationed or deployed around the world.	Understand diversity among people both home and abroad.	View the world from the perspective of someone in another culture.
STANDARD	Analyze and understand the current and past events of a culture under study as well as that culture's distinctive interpretation(s) of those events. Complete this analysis by examining traditional responses to change, delineating the components of that culture, regional variations in cultural diversity/human behavior, and spatial linkages among culture systems.	Analyze and understand cultural landscapes (i.e., political, economic, military, social, cultural and religious systems), their geographic distribution(s), and be cognizant of similarities and differences as they affect decision-making processes.	Analyze and delineate cultural diversity and human behavior in domestic and international scenarios, recognize a range of similarities and differences in common cultural practices, illustrate regional dissimilarity in cultural practices and demonstrate how these differences/similarities drive choices in domestic and international relations and military/civilian law.	Analyze current and past events of the culture under study, and be able to view events, issues, and choices in international relations from multiple perspectives. Understand how individuals and cultures pursue social, political, and economic goals.
