Mapping the Territory, Documenting the Journey:
Tracking the DQP

The National Institute for Learning Outcomes Assessment (NILOA) is engaged in a nation-wide effort to identify campuses involved in one way or another in the application or use of the Degree Qualifications Profile (DQP). Please take a few moments to complete this brief survey regarding your work with the DQP.

1. For what purpose(s) is your institution working with the DQP? Circle all that apply.
   - Discussion and vetting of the DQP
   - Clarification and Review of Learning Outcomes
   - Curriculum Mapping and Revision
   - Transfer and Articulation
   - Program Development and Review
   - Accreditation
   - Strategic Planning
   - Assessment of Learning
   - Other (please specify) ______________

2. At which degree level(s) are you examining the DQP? Circle all that apply.
   - Associate
   - Baccalaureate
   - Master

3. At which stage would you currently describe your work with the DQP?
   - Preliminary Discussions
   - Beginning
   - In Process
   - Advanced
   - Stalled

4. Name and email address of institutional contact for DQP related work.
   _______________________________ _______________________________

Additional Information on NILOA and the DQP

Founded in 2008, NILOA’s mission is to assist colleges and universities and other organizations in discovering, disseminating and adopting effective assessment approaches to inform and strengthen undergraduate education. A secondary focus is to help higher education effectively communicate relevant student and institutional performance data to policy makers, prospective students and their families, and other stakeholders. In 2012, Lumina Foundation for Education asked NILOA to examine the various ways colleges and universities are using the DQP. The goal is to better understand the utility of the DQP as a framework for assessing and advancing student learning. To learn more about NILOA’s involvement with the DQP and additional resources see: http://www.learningoutcomesassessment.org/DQPCorner.html

If you would like more detail about our work and would prefer to discuss this by phone, please let us know. Contact the Project Manager, Natasha Jankowski, at 217-244-2155 or via email: njankow2@illinois.edu. And, of course, please feel free to contact either one of us directly (kuh@indiana.edu; stanike@Illinois.edu).