

Exploring ePortfolio Pedagogy to Build a Culture of Reflection

Renee Houston, Ph.D. and Elize Hellam - University of Puget Sound

REFLECT - TAKING STOCK

Take a moment to think about your program, department, or institution's key programs or initiatives.

Use this space to list the current programs or initiatives on your campus.

REFLECT - WHY?

Moving beyond your list of programs and initiatives above, take a moment to consider your "Why" (Sinek, 2009). In other words, what purpose, cause, or belief holds your programs together and makes them meaningful?

Write your "Why" here.

Considering some of your plans for future programs or initiatives, how do they relate to your "Why"?

When you complete this section, please turn to your neighbor and share your "Why".

REFLECT - IDENTIFYING YOUR GOALS

		Do we have
		Yes	No
Do we want it?	Yes	Maintain or Strengthen or Scale	Acquire
	No	Eliminate	Avoid

Referring to what you wrote in the "Taking Stock" section and "Future Programs" question on the previous page, complete the Goals Grid (Nickols & Ledgerwood, 2005) below.

		Do we have it?
		Yes	No
Do we want it?	Yes
